

THREE-SIDED BUTTABLE CMOS IMAGE SENSOR

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image sensor chip is formed with the image sensor abutting up to three edges of the chip. Certain parts of the row logic which are required to be adjacent to each of the rows are placed into the array, in place of certain pixels of the array. Those missing pixels are then interpolated.

75782.LJ1